Dr. Georgia Myers

October 11, 2017

Today is a day that I have not looked forward to in that I am announcing my retirement as of December 22nd, 2017. I have many clients that I have had close to 35 years and I have seen multiple pets and family members grow up and many have children and grandchildren. I say this in sincerity that I feel that I have had the best of clients, the most adorable and lovable patients and the most loyal and dedicated staff to me and to Grandview Veterinary Clinic.

I purchased the building and opened Grandview Veterinary Clinic in Jan 1999. I changed the name from the Alamo to Grandview to have a fresh start and commitment to my clients and patients. It has been a wonderful time and a dedication of love to something I truly enjoy. But now, it is time to start a new season of my life. I will miss each and everyone and will have many wonderful memories to cherish.

I am leaving you in wonderful hands with Dr. Nastasha Garcia, Dr. Amanda Doty and Dr. Sammie Redding, who you will meet soon. They will continue to give you excellent care and compassion.

Thank you for allowing me to be part of your lives for these last 18 years and allowing me to share and love on your pets.

With love,

Dr. Georgia Myers
