

A note to our Residents, Families, and Partners,

A quick update to our three communities fending off COVID-19. Parkland Memory Care is virus-free. Wheatfields' staff also officially finished quarantine and began trickling in as early as Wednesday of this week. Westwind in Santa Cruz posted negative results throughout the week and is cautiously optimistic for the final results. Kudos to each community focused on providing loving, caring support to residents and staying vigilant against coronavirus.

Earlier this month, we rolled out the Great Place to Work campaign featuring a workplace culture survey. Many of our communities already completed the survey, and we will share community findings in the coming months. Special shout out to Rosewood, Forest Creek, and Willow Creek for a 100% response rate.

And finally, we want to ensure our time and energy is spent in the right places and would like to hear from you. If you read our updates on the website, please reach out and let us know. Your feedback will guide our direction in providing more updates via the website or create other ways to communicate en masse.

Stay safe, wear your masks, and we will talk soon.

Sincerely,

Dan Williams
