A Funny and Short Thanksgiving Story

It was on a Thanksgiving Day that I was playing a game with my friends. We decided to play 'turkey hunt'. Instantly we did not find a suitable thing to hide as the turkey, so we took a lunch box and put a turkey cutlet into it. We used that lunch box for our game in place of a turkey. Then it was decided that the one who finds the box would get the cutlet as the prize. The game started and we all had a lot of fun in the game while we hunted the so-called turkey (the lunchbox). Finally, when the lunch box was found, everyone was surprised to see that the turkey cutlet was not there. But only then did we find out that John, who was assigned to hide the cutlet in the box had decided to go ahead and eat it. So, we were all playing the game for an empty lunchbox. The game was still enjoyed by everyone that participated in it even though the turkey cutlet was gone.

Happy
Thanksgiving
