Elder Veteran Benefits Overview

Compensation | When a veteran's disability originates while serving on active duty military service, they could be eligible to receive a monthly benefit based on the severity of the disability. Benefits may also apply to surviving spouses.

Pension | A guaranteed net monthly income for veterans who served honorably during wartime and their surviving spouses. Certain financial eligibility requirements must be met.

Aid & Attendance | An additional special monthly benefit that can be awarded on top of either of the above benefits when all conditions are met. Proof of medical need for assistance is required to obtain this benefit.

Eligibility Requirements

Each program has its own set of eligibility requirements. In addition to an honorable or equivalent discharge, certain medical and (in the case of Pension) financial criteria must be met. Understanding these requirements can be complicated and Seasons Living is here to help!

Seasons Living is pleased provide Veterans Affairs accredited assistance to our current and future residents to learn the details of potential eligibility and pursue benefits. The VA recommends obtaining experienced, knowledgeable, and accredited assistance to ensure claim accuracy and completeness.
