

Ace of Spies

It is fitting that Sidney Reilly, the man known as the “Ace of Spies” and the “greatest spy in history,” had a mysterious past. While no one truly knows where he was born, where he was trained, the true nature of his adventures and exploits, or even his birth name, Reilly’s end is all too well-known. In November of 1925, Soviet agents caught and executed the super spy, a grim ending that turned the man into a myth.

Some reports suggest that Reilly began his life of duplicity during his teenage years. As a teenager, he faked his own death and left Russia for Brazil, where he worked odd jobs, changed his name to Pedro, and eventually got a job as a cook for British intelligence in 1895. During a mission, he allegedly saved the entire group, an act that won him safe passage to London. But still another story says that, during the same year, Reilly was in Paris, where he killed two Italian anarchists aboard a train before resurfacing in London. Either way, it was while living in London that he was recruited as an informant for Scotland Yard’s Special Branch, a precursor to the British secret service.

Through his contacts at Scotland Yard, Reilly eventually went to work in Russia, where he was recruited by the Japanese. He became a double agent, gathering intelligence for both Great Britain and Japan. The life of a spy certainly suited Reilly. He would later travel to Germany to steal technology and weapons. He would appear again in Russia, orchestrating the assassination of Vladimir Lenin and a coup against the Bolsheviks. He would fake German acts of sabotage to draw the United States into World War I.

Whether these exploits and others were factual or not, Reilly’s death catapulted him to near-mythical status. During the 1930s, Sidney Reilly was a household name. He was the model for Ian Fleming’s James Bond. He became the villain in countless Russian movies. In 1983, he was depicted by Sam Neill in the British television series Reilly, Ace of Spies.

November Birthdays

In astrology, those born from November 1–21 are Scorpions of Scorpio. Scorpions are passionate, dedicated, and resourceful. Scorpions may seem intimidating, but they are just no-nonsense people who value honesty and loyalty above all else. Those born from November 22–30 are Archers of Sagittarius. The Archers are the travelers of the zodiac, curious and energetic, with open minds craving new experiences and challenges.

Exciting Updates

Dare to Dream

This month we had the opportunity to fulfill another fun Dare to Dream for our resident John. John is well known in our community as “the movie man” and is very involved with hosting resident movie nights every weekend. When John is not helping with movies, he spends his time reading about and watching car races. Cars have always been a large part of John’s life. In his youth he was a race car driver, raceway announcer, and he owned his own auto shop. We were inspired by John’s love of cars, and we were able to surprise him with an outing to a custom car show. It was the perfect day for John to get outside and spend time admiring all the unique cars with fellow car enthusiasts.

Food Drive

During the month of November, The Preserve of Roseville will be collecting nonperishable food items to go towards a local food shelf to help those in need during the holidays.

Donations can be brought to the community room and placed on the kitchen island donation box. Collection will start on November 1st and go until November 29th. Help us support those in need and work to make a difference in our community.

Celebrating Our Veterans

Veterans Day, formerly known as Armistice Day, is observe on November 11th. This holiday celebrates the bravery and sacrifices made by all U.S. veterans. We would like to honor the veterans who call our community home and thank them for their service to our country.

Life Enrichment

Here at The Preserve of Roseville we are falling into many fun autumn activities. This month we went out on several scenic drives to see the beautiful autumn leaves and spooky Halloween decorations in the area. We took a group of residents to the Bell Museum, and they had a great time learning about Minnesota wildlife. Our residents continue to enjoy arts and crafts, coloring, Bingo, Hangman, and our weekly social hours and coffee in the lobby. Our monthly entertainment for October was provided by jazz musician, James Kellerman, the residents loved listening to his soothing tunes. This month we have been taking beautiful fall photo portrait of our residents, if you would like a digital copy of any photos please reach out to Britta Rossow. What better way to celebrate the spooky fall season than with a Halloween party for our residents, we are excited to see everyone's creative costumes.

First in Space

On November 3, 1957, a stray dog from the streets of Moscow named Laika made history by becoming the first organism to orbit Earth in outer space, a journey that paved the way for human space flight. In 1957, humanity knew little about the effects of space conditions on organisms. Many scientists believed that living things would not survive the launch off the planet's surface, much less the conditions of outer space. While Laika's trip was always considered to be one way, this did not stop the scientists from growing to love her. Before the launch, one scientist brought her home to play with his children. When Laika was placed inside the rocket capsule, the technician kissed her on the nose. Over the decades since Laika's trip into space, she has become a prominent figure in both Russia's history and popular culture around the world.
