News and Tips for Residents of Cowboy Properties Communities
Dec. 3, 2021

Dear Residents

We want to tell you how much we appreciate you. We know that you have choices about where to live and are thankful that you have chosen a Cowboy community to make your home.

A home is so much more than just walls and fixtures. It's where you hang your hat. The sanctuary where you can completely be yourself. Where you plant roots and create a community of friends and family. The background to our memories. It's a feeling of comfort and safety, a place where you can retreat and regroup. We are honored for the opportunity to play a role in your lives by providing you with that home.

The number one priority of Cowboy Properties is Happy Residents. Your happiness living in our community is important to us and guides everything that we do, from initial development with our sister company Cowboy Partners, to fostering the welfare of our communities. It's central to our mission that you are proud of where you live, and we appreciate your faith in us with your choices on where to call home.

We want to take a moment to honor you. You are the heart of our communities. You make them vibrant places to live and work. We are thankful every day for our place in your lives.
