Special Moments

Pioneer Village Bird Watch

My mom used to call them “yellow canaries”; they were not the singing beauties usually associated with that name, but the American Goldfinch. The males, bright yellow with a black cap and black wings with white stripes, are however, lovely singers of trills, twitters, and twees. These colorful birds molt in late fall to a cinnamon brown or gray. The females are a dull brownish yellow with grayish yellow striped wings, a modest appearance they retain throughout the nesting period. These friendly birds can be found year-round in Jackson County, if a little scarce in winter. Unlike their cousins, the Lesser Goldfinch (1/2 inch shorter and bearing a black cap and greenish back), American Goldfinch nest later in the season when insect populations are higher. Although goldfinch are seed-eaters, especially of Niger seed, the baby birds are fed a diet of mostly insects. There is a third member of this genus in the area, although mainly seen in Northern California, Lawrence’s Goldfinch, sporting a small black cap and bib, with a gray back and yellow tummy. I was thrilled a few years ago to spot one in my backyard, the 11th reported sighting in the valley!

The Hein Building

In memory of a beloved former resident of Pioneer Village, Helen Hein, we wanted to share a little about the legacy she has left behind here at our community.

As many of you are aware, in October of 2021, we had a ceremony dedicating our “B” building to Helen & her husband Richard. They were the owners of half of the property before Mr. & Mrs. Chamberlain built Pioneer Village. Mr. George McUne owned the other half. For 20 years, he ran a “Pioneer Village” with authentic buildings filled with relics he had collected over the years. He also offered western fights, pony & stagecoach rides, blacksmith demonstrations and Victorian melodramas.

Helen and Richard were prominent members of the town of Jacksonville. Not only did the Heins own land here at the Pioneer Village location, they also had a large ranch up on Pair a Dice Ranch road (which they named). The Presbyterian Church received support and contributions from them.

For many years, their grandchildren would come and spend the summer with them. Michelle would spend hours gardening or baking with Helen, while “the boys” would be out working the ranch.

In 2006, Helen and Richard moved into Pioneer Village where they lived for several years. One could always enjoy the delicious fragrance of apple pie, cake or other decadent desserts coming from their suite. Helen also was quite the seamstress, sewing and jewelry making were two of her favorite pastimes.

We were fortunate enough to share Helen’s 103rd birthday with her in October of 2021. Many residents and family were here to help her celebrate.

The building dedication was a very moving tribute for Helen. With tears in her eyes, she cut the ribbon making the “B” building the “Hein Building.” We will always treasure our memories of Helen and Richard.
