Success Story

I had a left knee replacement in August 2022, then was transferred to Holton Manor. Every department from the food, to nursing, to the therapy department. People have been not only professional but caring and thoughtful. The therapy team has been helpful and firm. I have had many interactions with other patients which has made it enjoyable. The PTs have gone the extra mile to help me. From teaching me tricks to improve my walking and transfers to pressure wrapping my leg to relieve the edema. This is a special training that Michele had to be certified in. All the therapy staff have different ideas to help you get back to reaching and achieving your goal. Follow their Instructions and you will see results, I did!! I am still doing it and I'm progressing!! They are kind but firm. The nursing staff and CNA's are wonderful and treat you like family. Laundry and cleaning ladies are wonderful. Holton Manor gets a five star plus from me in all categories. Thank you for all your care and love.

Easy Turkey Craft

All you need for this easy turkey craft is some glue, a pencil, a black marker, scissors, and brown, orange, yellow, and red construction paper – googly eyes optional.

Start by tracing one of your hands (fingers and thumb tucked together) on a brown piece of paper. Then trace both hands with your fingers splayed out on two different colors (orange, red, yellow, green) of paper. Be sure to trace the individual fingers. For more "feathers" trace individual fingers on various colors of paper. Cut out all of your traced pieces. The heel of the handprint will be your turkey head. Arrange the finger handprints and individual finger pieces behind the head/body piece to look like feathers and glue into place. Cut out two long strips of the brown construction paper and accordion fold for legs. Cut out feet for your turkey – use your imagination – it doesn't have to be perfect! Draw on a face (or use googly eyes if available) and cut a small triangle out of the red paper for the turkey wattle. Display your turkey for all to see at your family gathering.

Your gift today makes a brighter tomorrow.
