

Resident Spotlight

Hiroko "Koko"

Hiroko, affectionately known as Koko to her friends and family here in Oregon, has had a very colorful life over her 85 years. In 1943, during WWII, a 3 year old, Koko was placed with her parents and 6 siblings in the Topaz, Utah relocation camp. There is a historical monument of Koko and her sister, Miyuki erected at the San Bruno Bart Station representing the transportation location of the internment of Japanese Americans. Koko has a free spirit that encapsulated travel the world over. The warmer climates have always suited her and the more rustic was idyllic. No problem to sleep in an open palapas in Mexico! Koko loves people and anyone interesting or not, she is one to open up and have a conversation. A smile is an invitation and Koko will always smile. We're so pleased to have you here, Koko!
