***What About Deadlines, Confirming Outings, & Billing ***

For any outing that requires advance sign-up, residents will receive a call on the deadline date to confirm their spot. After the deadline has passed, residents are responsible for the cost of their ticket, and the charge will be billed directly to their account (on the following month's statement). If you are unable to attend and the deadline has passed, you will be responsible for arranging the sale of your ticket to another resident. Please notify activities if you cannot attend and m have made arrangements. On outings that do not require advance payment, such as lunch outings, we will confirm your spot 2 days in advance. Residents will have a day to confirm. The day before the outing, if you have not confirmed, we will make room for the next person on the waitlist. If an outing is full and you're willing to drive, please contact Charlette ASAP so she can adjust the reservation with the restaurant.

Advance sign-up allows us to secure the best possible seating at events, reserve spaces at popular venues, and ensure transportation is properly arranged. Many of these places require us to purchase tickets ahead of time. Because these tickets are bought in advance, last minute cancellations will not be refundable, which is why residents are responsible for their ticket after the deadline. Some on-site events may require advance sign up and have deadlines as well (ex. craft workshops). Please see Charlette if you have any questions.
